The School of Human Sciences offers both the Master of Science and the Doctor of Philosophy in Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS). Contact the Graduate Coordinator for more information regarding admission requirements and curriculum.

Human Development and Family Studies is an interdisciplinary approach to the study of individual and family development in a variety of contexts across the lifespan, from conception to later life. It encompasses specialty areas in infant and child studies, youth studies, family studies, family resource management, and gerontology.

Master of Science in Human Development & Family Studies

Admission Requirements

An applicant for the Master of Science degree must:

- meet all MSU Graduate School requirements for admission;
- have earned a baccalaureate degree in HDFS or a related field;
- submit a Graduate Record Examination (GRE) score competitive with other applicants;
- submit three letters of recommendation, with at least two letters from individuals familiar with applicant's academic work;
- submit a sole-authored writing sample (see instructions below);
- submit a personal statement (500-1,000 words) describing the applicant's purpose for undertaking graduate student, including professional plans, career goals, and detailed research interests.

For international, non-native speakers of English, a TOEFL or IELTS score indicative of ability to successfully complete graduate work is required. See English-Language Requirements in the Admission section of this publication for more information.

An overall undergraduate grade point average of 3.00 is preferred. Students admitted provisionally must fulfill Graduate School provisional admission requirements found in this publication. Qualified applicants for the HDFS graduate program are expected to have interests and goals that are consistent with the department's faculty expertise and interests, as well as course offerings. Admission decisions are based on a holistic consideration of the applicant's credentials.

Instructions for Writing Sample: Applicants to the master's program are asked to submit a sole-authored writing sample in English so that the admissions committee may assess the candidate's ability as a writer, potential success in the masters program, and ability to do research and present it in written form. The minimum length of the sample is five pages, but the same should not exceed 25 pages. The sample should be presented in AOA style (title page, headers, references, etc.). Examples of possible writing samples include, but are not limited to, papers from past courses, journal articles, or some written work product, such as a manual or technical report.

Doctor of Philosophy in Human Development & Family Studies

Admission Requirements

An applicant for the Doctor of Philosophy degree must:

- meet all MSU Graduate School requirements for admission;
- have earned a baccalaureate degree in HDFS or a related field;
- have completed the following courses or their equivalents:

AIS 8803	Applying Research Methods to Agricultural Information Science and Education	3
HS 8823	Advanced Theories of Human Development and Family Relations	3
Graduate-level Statistics		3
HS 8813	Seminar in Human Development and Family Studies	3

- meet all MSU Graduate School requirements for admission;
- have earned a baccalaureate degree in HDFS or a related field;
- have completed a minimum of 30 hours of master's level coursework in HDFS or a related field;

- have completed the following courses or their equivalents: AIS 8803 Research Methods; HS 8823 Advanced Theories of Human Development and Family Relations; 3 hours of graduate-level statistics; and HS 8813 Seminar in HDFS (contingent acceptance may be granted for students to complete requires courses within one calendar year);
- have earned a grade point average of 3.00 on all previous graduate coursework;
- submit a Graduate Record Examination (GRE) score competitive with other applicants;
- submit three letters of recommendation, with at least two of the letters coming from individuals familiar with the applicant's academic work;
- submit a sole-authored writing sample (see instructions below);
- submit a personal statement (500-1,000 words) describing the applicant's purpose for undertaking graduate study, professional plans, career goals, and detailed research interests;
- complete an interview with members of the HDFS graduate faculty.

For international, non-native speakers of English, a TOEFL score indicative of ability to successfully complete graduate work is required. See English Language Test Score Requirements in the Admission section of this publication for more information.

Qualified applicants for the HDFS graduate program are expected to have interests and goals that are consistent with the department's faculty expertise and interests as well as course offerings. Once all application materials have been submitted, applicants should contact the HDFS graduate coordinator at 662-325-0655 or tphillips@humansci.msstate.edu to schedule an interview with members of the HDFS graduate faculty. To accommodate international applicants, interviews can be conducted using distance technology. Admission decisions are based on a holistic consideration of the applicant's credentials.

Admission to the master's program does not automatically mean that a student will enter the doctoral program; a student completing the master's degree must reapply through the Office of the Graduate School for admission to the doctoral program.

Instructions for Writing Sample: Applicants to the doctoral program are required to submit a sole-authored writing sample in English so that the admissions committee may assess the candidate's ability as a writer, potential success in the doctoral program, and ability to do research and present it in written form. The minimum length of the writing sample is five pages, but the sample should not exceed 25 pages. The sample should be presented in APA style (title page, headers, references, etc.). Examples of possible writing samples include, but are not limited to, papers from past courses, journal articles, or some written work product, such as a manual or technical report.
